TERMS OF SEMI-WERKLY:

The Democratic newspapers have no had much to say about the political murders in Virginia and Mississippi. Perhaps they were unable to find language to do justice to the subject. Perhaps they are off hunting for it. But here is a Demo cratic news | aper, the Vicksburg Post, which has heard of the Mississippi murder and has views concerning it. Hear what this Democratic newspaper says about murder for party's sake:

for party's sake:

A free ballot and a fair count does not seem to be the motio of the Copiah county Democracy. In an attempt to cast his vote at Hazchurst, "Pern!" Matthews received a charge of twenty-four-buck shot in the face, killing him instantly. He went to the polls single handed and aloze, and in the attempt to exercise his privilege of American citizenship, was shot down like a dog. This is the worst murder that has occurred in Mississipal since the Chisholm killing. It will in jurch's good name and prosperity of the baste. Every bullet that was shot into Matthew will be worth thomands of vots to the Republicans, because it will be said, and it cannot be denied, that he was killed on account of his politics by intolerant Democrats.

Here we have in brief the story of th the scene of the killing. It is admitted because he attempted to "execute the privilege of an American citizen" and vote as he pleased. It is further admitted that Matthews was "killed on account of his politics by intolerant Democrats." Matthews was a white man. According to the Mississippi theory and the Virginia theory of a "white man's government" a white man has a right to vote as he pleases. But all theories must give way in the face of a determined purpose to "save the Democratic majority."

Whether every bullet shot into Matthews -there were a good many of them-"wil be worth thousands of votes to the Republicans," remains to be seen. Nothing is to be expected from a quickened conscience in those States where these outrages against human rights and the rights of voters are committed. It is very likely that voters in otherStates will protest at the ballot box Independent voters will not endorse a can paign of murder; and there are high minded, liberty-loving Democrats who may show their disapproval when they come to vote If it be understood that in one section a party is determined to maintain its sup remacy by the shotgun, there will be in an other section as strong a determination that the policy of murder shall not prevail. If the South is to be held solid with the shotgun the North will be made solid with to be regretted-this country has drunken of that cup to its sorrow-and that section which is responsible for it now will suffer by it. If the Democratic party can elect a President by fair and lawful means the country will submit with good grace, but an election carried by murder is not fair and lawful. It will be a dark day for this republic when a President can be made

Can asy intelligent reason be assigned why all progressive, thinking, liberty loving citizens of this State should not, so far as State issues are involved, rise to that exalted manhood which knows no sect, no creed, no party; disabusing their minds of the prejudice of blind party zeal, with an eye single to the well being of our State, the prosperity of our mountain homes and an economical administration of our finances, combine in an effort which, like an ces, combine in an effort which, like an avalanche, shall sweep from power that moss-back element which in their madaes mose-back element which in their madness for office and place, lorget the interest of the people and seek only their own aggrandizement, who have, since their accession to power and will continue so long as permitted by the people, to paralyze the industries of West Virginia. That which can be done in counties can be done in the State. Through the broad and diberal views and independent and patriotic distribution of such men as C. M. Shinn, Hon. George F. "The Book Lover's Eachiridion," a beau-tiful addition of which has just been pub-lished by J. B. Lippincott & Co., is the work of Alexander Ireland.

It is reported that Rose Terry Cooke— who is a rare delineator of New-England character—has engaged to write a long novel for J. R. Osgood & Co.

Two novels by Anthony Trollope are still unpublished—"The Land-Leaguers," which will be issued very soon, and "An Old Man's Love," which will not be pub-lished probably for several months.

William Black is reported to believe that his new story, "Judith Shakespeare," will prove to be the best that he has written. Mr. Black's last work, it must be said, showed plenty of room for improvement.

The Bulwer autobiography ends with the novelist's entrance upon political life. His frankness concerning the peccadillose of his father, Gen. Earle Bulwer, is said to be greater and much more distasteful than the frankness of Dickens and Trollope in relation to their parents.

The wife of Barry Cornwall has told Mr. Gosse that the last time her husband saw the eccentric poet, Thomas Lovell Beddoes, the latter was in the hands of the police for having attempted, in a fit of fantastic bravado, to set Drury Lane Theater on fire with a five-pound note.

The problem of successful authorship have been studied by an English "literary lady" with a curious result. She advertises in a London newspaper that she, being "desirous of making her writings more fully known, seeks the services of a thoroughly good reader, who would read or give public recitations of her poems and essays."

recitations of her poems and essays.

The pecuniary rewards of Trollope's literary work were not remarkable considering the moneys paid to others of the guild. Bulwer received for the copyright of the cheap edition of his works alone the sum of $150,000; other large amounts were paid for the books at the time of their publication. For "Endymion" ord Beaconfield was paid $50,000; and Marryatt received $100,000 for one of his works.
